

JUSTYNA SIEDZIAKO

Legal nature of the claim to redress the damage arising from the breach of intellectual property rights by the payment of multiplicity of the appropriate remuneration

The paper presents the concept of intellectual property rights and cases of their infringements. The author emphasized possible manners of seeking legal redress for the damage, including also the payment of multiplicity of the appropriate remuneration. In the opinion of the author a claim for payment of multiplicity of the appropriate remuneration - provided for by law - should be considered as a solution which is too strict and contrary to the fundamental principles of the civil law and the principles of liability for damages.

Keywords: redressing damage, infringement of copyright, payment of multiplicity of the appropriate remuneration