

PATRYK GACKA

Use of nuclear weapon as genocide, a crime against humanity and war crime? An outline of the issues

SUMMARY

The author conducts the analysis of three kinds of crimes: genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes from the point of view of the possibilities of their committing as a result of the use of nuclear weapon. The article consists of: introduction (sub-chapters: weapon of mass destruction vs. nuclear weapon, international criminal law), substantive analysis and summary where the conclusions after conducted research were presented.

KEYWORDS: nuclear weapons, genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes, international courts